Ada Sophia Dennison McKinley was an African American educator in Chicago who founded the agency in 1919 as a settlement house to assist veterans returning from World War I and African Americans migrating from the south.

One hundred years later, Ada S. McKinley Community Services is one of the largest human services organizations in the country and thriving in its mission to empower, educate, and employ people to change lives and strengthen communities.

By supporting this event in celebration of our 100-Year milestone, you are helping create a viable path for the next 100 years of service.
